Morningstar Take by Michael Born 27 Apr 2026

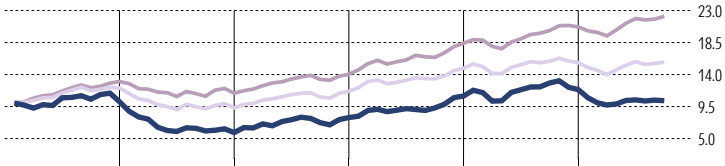

Baillie Gifford Long Term Global Growth is focused on and invests in transformational growth companies. It is managed by an erudite team with links to academics, industry "visionaries," and useful contacts with unlisted companies. We have increased conviction in those at the helm and how they implement the process, resulting in a rating of High across the People and Process Pillars. The distinctive philosophy and the combination of experience, collegial interactions within the team and with other Baillie Gifford teams, and the firm's partnership structure are key to our positive view. The managers bring a distinctive and differentiated approach to portfolio management, with careers dedicated to genuine, long-term thinking. It takes a specific type of investor to run this type of strategy, and their ability to stay the course is commendable. They have proved capable of stomaching significant price volatility and have a long record of identifying ultra-growth companies. The comanager structure is led by Baillie Gifford partner Mark Urquhart and John MacDougall as the more senior portfolio managers at the helm, with almost six decades of collective experience, all at Baillie Gifford. They are joined by Gemma Barkhuizen, also a partner in the firm, who was appointed as a decision-maker in January 2022. Although we saw decision-maker Michael Pye depart in January 2026, who was appointed alongside Barkhuizen, we maintain our positive view of the team, and people management remains a strength at this firm. The process is research-intensive, and the philosophy is well-established, finding its origins in institutional mandates launched in 2004. It aims to recognize genuine long-term growth and makes use of differentiated sources of information. Portfolio construction is punchy, permitting these views to translate into tangible returns. Periods of heightened volatility and single-stock drawdowns are expected and tolerated by the team. Enhancements to risk management and analysis in recent years are accretive. Meanwhile, capital allocation within the portfolio is evident as the managers rotate into the next generation of high-growth companies. The portfolio will naturally exhibit some extreme growth and sector biases. The managers now approach China with greater caution than in the early 2020s, and exposure has come down markedly, though it is still overweight there compared with the Morningstar Category average. Long-term performance has been strong, but it has been a bumpy ride. The strategy's extreme growth bias leads to underperformance when value does well and at times of heightened investor caution. Meanwhile, valuations have on occasion looked stretched. The extreme drawdown in 2022 is testament to this, following a period of unprecedented outperformance. Investors should look to invest for the long term and be comfortable seeing through periods of elevated volatility. They may want to consider topping and tailing exposure depending on their views of valuations, though at the portfolio level, forward sales and earnings growth currently look attractive. Over 2025, the strategy outperformed the Morningstar Global Growth Index as well as its peer group average. Strong selection in communications services (AppLovin and Reddit), financials (Nu Holdings), and industrials (Rocket Lab and Symbiotics) drove the outperformance.

Morningstar Take by Shamir Popat 21 Jul 2026

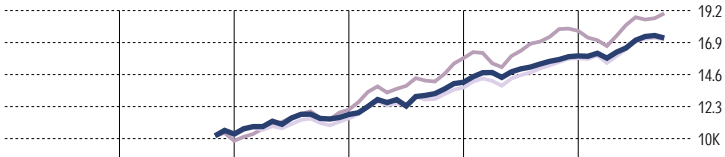

The Barrow Hanley Global Value Equity strategy continues to warrant our highest convictions for both its stable and skilled team running a disciplined, yet pragmatic value investing approach. Strategy lead Brad Kinkelaar, along with comanagers David Ganucheau and Cory Martin, leverage over 30 years' industry experience on average in demonstrating their skills and insights. They harness the depth and experience of the 26-member investment team, who are organized and measured by their contributions by geography and across sectors. All members of the investment team have equity in the business, fostering investor alignment on top of their competitive remuneration structures. Team changes in 2026 saw one voluntary resignation and a replacement of the healthcare analyst, reflecting active team management rather than disruption, reinforcing our confidence in the team's overall quality. That said, Kinkelaar remains a key-person risk given his central role in portfolio decisions. Robust bottom-up fundamental analysis underpins this strategy, as the team seeks to identify solid businesses that are mispriced by the market. Downside scenarios are clearly a consideration when evaluating the investment theses and avoiding value traps, supporting strong risk management. A distinguishing feature of the strategy is its ability to tilt between defensive and cyclical value positions as market conditions evolve—an outcome of bottom-up stock selection rather than top-down macro calls. As a result, the portfolio may lag during sharp deep-value rallies due to its balanced exposure across value substyles. This process results in a diversified 50- to 70-stock portfolio with an average investment horizon of around three years; commensurately, active share is high, and turnover reasonable between 30% and 40%. Long-term performance supports this view, with consistent outperformance relative to the global large-value category average on rolling performance measures, and evidence of downside resilience in stressed markets. Backed by a high-caliber team and a time-tested value process, the strategy remains a compelling choice for investors

Morningstar Take by Stephen Welch 30 Apr 2026

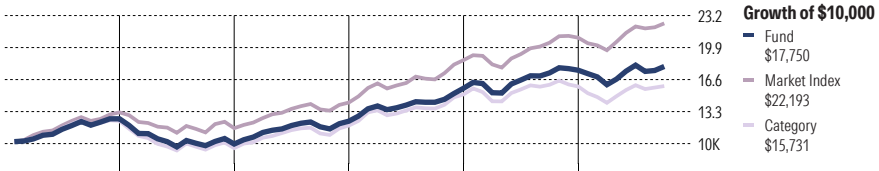

American Funds New Perspective (which includes the Capital Group-branded Luxembourg, Australia, and Japan vehicles, and CFS-branded Australia vehicles) continues to benefit from an accomplished management roster and a deep global analyst bench, even as it undergoes a long-planned leadership transition. Combined with the strategy's proven investment approach, these strengths support its High People and Above Average Process ratings. Although the strategy lost a veteran manager last year and will see another departure this year, Capital Group has executed the leadership transition thoughtfully, and the strategy remains in capable hands. The firm allocates assets between subsidiaries Capital International Investors and Capital World Investors. In early 2025, Barbara Burtin succeeded long-tenured leader Jody Jonsson as head of CWI's team, with Jonsson stepping off at the end of last year. In March 2026, the firm announced that lead Principal Investment Officer Rob Lovelace will hand off responsibilities to Noriko Chen on May 1, 2026, before stepping off the fund at year-end. Chen has run a sleeve of the strategy for 13 years and has been involved with it for more than 25 years. Burtin, who has been with the firm for 17 years, has managed her portion of the portfolio for seven years. Together, they provide experienced leadership through this transition. Most of this globally based management team remains intact, ensuring continuity. As lead PIO, Chen will direct the whole strategy, in charge of allocating capital to the managers, and lead the CII team, which includes Lovelace, Anne-Marie Peterson, Aline Avzaradel, and Kohei Higashi. Burtin oversees CWI's team of Brady Enright, Andraz Razen, Patrice Collette, and Steven Watson. Both teams draw on roughly two separate 50-person analyst groups, with each analyst team also managing a dedicated slice of the portfolio. The team applies a well-established approach focused on global multinationals positioned to benefit from evolving trade dynamics. Typically, these are financially stable, established firms. Each manager independently runs a sleeve but must adhere to requirements that companies derive at least 25% of revenue from outside their home region and maintain a minimum $3 billion market cap at purchase. The strategy has consistently proved reliable in protecting capital during market downturns, benefiting investors over the long term. Over the trailing 10-, 15-, and 20-year periods through February 2026, the US-domiciled mutual fund outperformed the MSCI ACWI benchmark and ranked in the global large-stock growth Morningstar Category's top third or better each period. In 2025, the strategy landed in the category's top quintile but lagged the index. Overall, this remains a top-tier global equity option with strong prospects to build on its long record of success.

We maintain an overall positive view of Fidelity Future Leaders. However, our view of the process has been weakened by the need for greater team stability to support the flexible, fundamentally driven approach. Portfolio manager James Abela has headed the strategy since its inception in 2013, designing its investment philosophy, selecting the stocks, and building the portfolio. While Abela is an adept investor, his additional role as the co-portfolio manager of the Fidelity Global Future Leaders strategy from late 2020 remains a drawback. Notwithstanding, we continue to believe he has the ability and bandwidth to manage this strategy, although full focus here remains preferable given its highly dynamic nature. Abela is supported by a large local analyst team of 10, overseen by a director of research, and can also draw on Fidelity's global analysts for additional insights. That said, there have been ongoing changes within the broader local group over the years, with the departure of the Director of Research Viral Patel in July 2025 serving as a catalyst to revise our view of the strategy. Patel played a pivotal role in maintaining analyst scope, quality, and reach, which underpins the process. Elsewhere, key-person risk exists here, given the lack of identified successors. While Abela has effectively implemented the process over a sustained timeframe, with his fundamental judgment central to the strategy's long-term success, analyst inputs remain a critical and major component. As a result, ongoing team turnover has raised doubts about maintaining process execution at a high standard, tempering our forward-looking confidence. Nevertheless, the process stands out for its flexible portfolio construction and effective stock selection, which have been strong over the long term. The former enables the strategy to allocate across quality, momentum, transition, and value stocks within specified risk limits, while assessments of viability, sustainability, and credibility are competently conducted to support stock selection. Over medium- and long-term horizons, shrewd and well-timed adjustments to the portfolio's composition Knowledgeable leadership and a rigorous process underpin our continued confidence in First Sentier Investors Concentrated Australian Share. Head of Australian Equities Growth Dushko Bajic, who has led this strategy since 2014, is capably supported by senior leaders David Wilson and Christian Guerra, whose complementary skill sets are integrated across the unit's suite of portfolios. Importantly, the broader team is tenured, stable, and appears to function in a transparent and cooperative manner, creating an environment that reinforces sound decision-making. FSI's philosophy focuses on owning growing companies reinvesting above their cost of capital, on the belief that these deliver the greatest shareholder value. A standardized research framework and careful accounting scrutiny support repeatable outcomes, while detailed growth scenario modeling and close attention to business drivers make the research actionable. Analysts test those assumptions against industry, macroeconomic, and demographic analysis work, and must distribute evenly across ratings buckets from strong sell to strong buy—a design that encourages conviction and sharper differentiation. That strength largely carries through to stock selection and portfolio construction, where the team manages risk in earnings-constrained sectors with pragmatism by assessing companies on their relative quality. However, Bajic's approach to blending industry, sector, and factor risk relies more on intuition than the structured research process supporting it, though it is informed by a range of proprietary and third-party risk systems and quantitative analyst resources. Despite strong periods of relative performance, the portfolio's growth tilt has left it more exposed during periods of market volatility, including in 2022, 2025, and early 2026. Overall, this strategy's appeal lies in a skilled team that continues to exhibit robust research and practiced portfolio construction. The strategy now closely resembles First Sentier Australian Share, ticker 3404, only differentiated by the exclusion of the flagship strategy's 4%-5% internally managed small-cap sleeve.

Morningstar Take by Gregg Wolper 27 Apr 2026

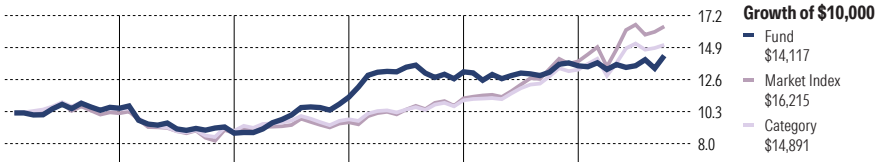

Although GQG Partners Emerging Markets Equity's performance in 2025 and early 2026 was uncommonly weak, the strategy remains a sound option. This strategy has succeeded in the past by going its own way. Manager Rajiv Jain, who runs the strategy with two comanagers and a deputy manager, looks for growth but is wary of companies whose valuations are, in his view, based more on past glory than a realistic view of their future growth prospects. Above all, he wants to avoid stocks he considers vulnerable to steep price declines. In 2025, that led him to underweight Chinese firms and bypass popular Korean artificial intelligence plays SK Hynix and Samsung Electronics. Those decisions may have been prudent but left this strategy behind when those stocks soared. Compounding the problem: A heavy overweighting in India, whose market lagged. Overall, the 9.9% return of the US mutual fund's institutional shares in 2025 landed more than 20 percentage points short of its prospectus benchmark, the MSCI Emerging Markets Index and the diversified emerging-markets Morningstar Category average. This pattern continued into March 2026. Such a dismal showing might raise concerns if the bold positioning was out of character for the manager, or if the manager had a brief or uninspiring track record. But that's not the case here. Jain has run strategies for three decades and has taken deeply contrarian positions and implemented drastic sector shifts before. They typically pay off. For example, gradually hiking the US-domiciled fund's energy exposure from 5% of the portfolio (according to Morningstar's classifications) to 25% in 2021-22 helped the I shares top the index and category average by more than 16 percentage points in 2023. It posted the same margin of outperformance in 2020 with different positioning. That said, the extent of underperformance in 2025 and early 2026 did dent its previously outstanding long-term record. From their inception at the end of 2016 through February 2026, the I shares' annualized return merely matched the index while topping the category average by half a percentage point. By contrast, at year-end 2024,

Morningstar Take by Steven Le 27 Apr 2026

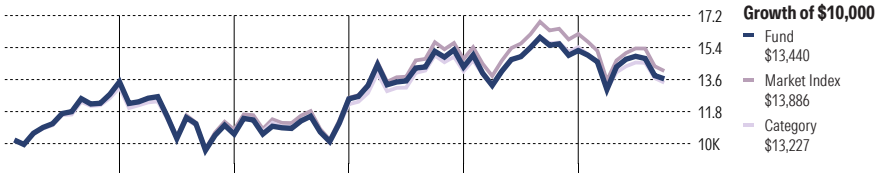

Ironbark Paladin Property Securities remains an impressive strategy, thanks to the diverse skillset of its core team and its differentiated approach. Co-lead portfolio managers Chris Robinson and Todd McFarlane, with small-cap specialist Eloise Blake, have run this strategy with notable effectiveness and consistency since its investment process was enhanced in 2013. Each member brings a distinct skillset to an approach that seeks to generate outperformance over its Morningstar Category index from three distinct sources: stock selection in large-cap Australian REITs, active investment in small-cap AREITs, and selective participation in international deal flow. This setup provides flexibility in a highly concentrated sector. More importantly, the group has demonstrated proficiency in each area over long horizons. Blake also took on portfolio management responsibilities from 2022, a positive step that adds continuity to this tight-knit group—a key differentiator in a category largely made up of small investment teams. The fundamentally driven process evaluates property stocks within each subsector based on relative valuations and quality characteristics, seeking to minimize factor and style bets. Stock selection is the main driver of performance and benefits from collaborative analysis across market segments, with Robinson and McFarlane responsible for overall portfolio construction and large-cap positioning. The pairing approach that is predominantly used in the large-cap space has been a short-term headwind, driven by the overweight position in Goodman Group, the underweight position in Charter Hall, and the broad strength of the Australian listed property sector. That said, missteps in this allocation have been infrequent over the long term, and clear evidence of process adherence and disciplined buy/sell execution in line with long-term stock theses provides confidence in future outcomes. Elsewhere, Robinson leverages his position as head of Asia-Pacific listed real estate securities within DWS' global investment platform to take advantage of opportunistic deal flow (usually placements and IPOs) across the globe.

Even though the portfolio's total international exposure is expected to remain below 5% at any point in time, it has nonetheless been a consistent and valuable contributor to relative returns. Blake's focus on small caps ensures readiness to capitalize on opportunities in emerging, less efficient, and underresearched areas of the market, a lever that has proved a solid contributor to long-term performance. Overall, our conviction in this strategy remains steadfast, supported by a robust team and approach. The primary vehicle from which this strategy's Pillar ratings are derived is Ironbark Paladin Property Securities, ticker 5050.

Life Cycle Global Share is an attractive offering from boutique manager Life Cycle Investment Partners. We see strength in the talented and experienced investment team. They are the architects of an investment process that has proved its worth over the long term in prior incarnations. Our conviction is capped by the still-short history of implementation in this setup, which continues to earn a People rating of High and a Process rating of Above Average. The fund is managed by senior portfolio managers Peter Rutter, James Clarke, and Will Kenney, and portfolio manager Chris Parr. The overall investment team consists of seven investors, who left Royal London together to set up this boutique, with the backing of Pinnacle Investment Management. We consider this an exceptionally strong team, well-resourced and equipped with a diverse range of skills. The managers impress with their depth of knowledge and true passion. Rutter, Clarke, and Kenney have worked together for over 20 years and are architects of the distinctive process that finds its foundation in corporate lifecycle theory. Their accumulated learnings have been invaluable, leading to subtle tweaks in the process. The managers have steered clients through a wide variety of market environments to good effect. While the process makes judicious use of some quantitative techniques, qualitative analysis is also highly important. We think the people at the helm are crucial, and we hold the team in high regard. The use of sports psychologists and the behavioral edge built over time (such as comfort investing in turnarounds) and long-termism are important, too. The process engineered by the managers is also highly attractive. The managers invest in companies spanning all corporate lifecycle stages: accelerating, compounding, fading, mature, and turnaround. The approach has its grounding in financial academia, and different characteristics are sought out depending on a company's lifecycle stage. Capital allocation and cash flow analysis are central. The process is intellectually sound. Portfolio construction and risk management are well-reasoned and incorporate multiple dimensions of risk. The managers aim to be broadly style-neutral to isolate idiosyncratic risk. There is a focus on optimal long-term capital allocation as the driver of wealth creation, and how this changes depending on a company's lifecycle stage. We like the team's probabilistic thinking and the blend of quantitative tools and fundamental analysis. Common behavioral biases are well-controlled. There is sensible use of artificial intelligence tools to streamline workflow, too. The team has long used such tools. Recent and prospective hires are focused on data and analytics, building on the foundational data layer that was developed with a contractor. The track record of implementation is still short: The Australian vehicle is the oldest and launched in September 2024. This is a consideration currently preventing our highest conviction, but the ingredients are in place. The approach has delivered strong outcomes over the long run in prior guises, and we expect more of the same here.

Conviction in Magellan Infrastructure's team has declined following several senior departures, while the view of the process has moderated but remains positive, reflecting a clearly defined investment philosophy. While we noted the departures of Gerald Stack and Jowell Amores in July and November 2025, respectively, the forthcoming departure of David Costello in May 2026 has prompted a recalibration of our view of the team. All three were senior members, making their combined departures significant because of the resulting loss of infrastructure experience within the group. Additionally, the pace of turnover is less than ideal for a fundamentally driven strategy and offsets our positive view of the current co-heads of infrastructure, Ben McVicar and Ofer Karliner, whom we regard for their comprehensive knowledge of the sector. A measured stance is therefore appropriate until this group can demonstrate a sustained period of stability. While no changes to the approach are anticipated, the tempered view reflects reduced confidence in execution rather than in the framework, which we continue to regard positively. Given that bottom-up stock selection drives absolute and relative returns, its success relies on the investment team's judgment, underscoring the importance of team stability and experience. We have historically valued the additional oversight and rigor the investment committee brings to stock analysis, especially in assessing quality. However, changes to the committee's composition over the years have also played a role in shaping the view of the process, although some senior continuity provides comfort in maintaining a constructive stance. In terms of philosophy, Magellan's definition of infrastructure remains one of the most defensive among peers. Its unwavering emphasis on traditional infrastructure stocks reflects a risk-conscious approach that enhances the likelihood of stable, risk-adjusted relative returns. This defensive orientation also supports inflation and downside protection—key traits investors typically seek in infrastructure. Going forward, greater team stability will be key to reinforcing Medalist Rating was prepared at the request of, and was paid for by, the Issuer. See Disclosure for more details.

Resolution Capital's Global Property Securities strategy continues to merit High ratings for both People and Process Pillars, thanks to its standout team and a time-tested and robust investment approach. Chief Investment Officer and founder Andrew Parsons leads a seasoned portfolio management team: Marco Colantonio, Robert Promisel, and Julian Campbell-Wood. The multisleeve structure has been in place for over a decade, promoting accountability, challenge, and continuity while reducing key-person risk. Five analysts support them, averaging over a decade of experience, organized by sector. The analyst team runs a paper portfolio, fostering a devil's advocate culture and cohesiveness between the members. Turnover in the analyst ranks has been moderate, with two departures over two years offset by two timely and strategic hires. The investment process focuses on high-quality, low-leverage REITs with recurring earnings and strong stewardship, an approach that has underpinned the strategy's long-term outperformance. The valuation-driven process is rigorous but can struggle around cyclical turning points and is naturally prone to moving too early into emerging opportunities. However, periods of temporary weakness have given way to stronger outcomes as Resolution's more enduring investment cases, founded on thorough fundamental research, are realized. The performance weakness of early 2025, subsequent strong recovery, and considerable outperformance of the equity global real estate Morningstar Category index and average in the year to Aug. 31, 2026, followed that pattern. Idea generation and deep research continue to demonstrate value—leveraging the deep sector skills of the team, supported by detailed site visits and management interactions. The disciplined quality focus on longer-term lease structures, sharper capital allocation, and higher pricing power is evidenced through high-conviction names like Welltower, Ventas, and Digital Realty. Additionally, notable process efficiencies and edges are gained from

Schroder Australian Equity remains an attractive core proposition in the Australian equities landscape, anchored by a deep and broadly experienced 11-member investment team. The group's collaborative structure and culture of robust debate underpin a disciplined, repeatable process that has delivered credible long-term returns. Schroder Australian Equity is led by Martin Conlon (head of equities since 2003) and Andrew Fleming (deputy head since 2007), supported by a deep bench of senior investors and sector specialists. The team's collaborative structure and daily stock debates foster strong accountability and process discipline. The strategy's philosophy and decision-making remain anchored by Conlon and Fleming, which is crucial given the team turnover over the past few years at an analyst level. The People rating is Above Average, reflecting the team's depth and experience, but key-person risk is notable, while talent retention constraints noted in previous reports are still to be overcome. The High Process Pillar rating reflects a robust, repeatable, and consistently applied investment framework. The strategy employs a bottom-up, fundamental approach focused on sustainable midcycle cash flows, disciplined valuation, and risk management. The team's contrarian mindset and willingness to challenge consensus underpin its edge, with daily stock discussions, a proprietary optimizer, and normalization of analyst biases contributing to a differentiated process. The resulting portfolio typically holds 40–70 stocks, diversified across sectors, with position sizes set by conviction and liquidity. Performance has generally tracked or modestly outperformed the S&P/ASX 200 TR AUD Index and peer group, with notable resilience in downturns and value-led markets. However, the strategy's contrarian bias can lead to periods of underperformance during momentum-driven rallies. Overall, Schroders Australian Equity offers investors a well-diversified core portfolio with a disciplined valuation underpin, supported by skilled leadership and a battle-tested process. Key watchpoints remain around talent retention and succession planning,

Morningstar Take by Eva Cook 03 Aug 2026

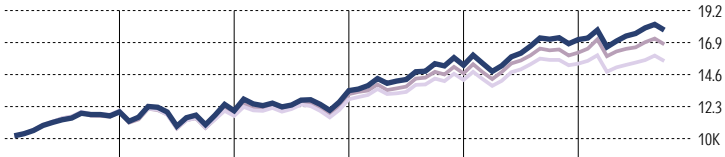

Solaris Core Australian Equity is a compelling choice for investors seeking diversified, style-neutral exposure to actively managed Australian large-cap equities. The fund continues to impress, thanks to its seasoned team, its sound investment philosophy and risk management, and its investor-aligned structure. Solaris maintains its Above Average People Pillar rating, despite the departure of analyst Charles Story in June 2026. The rating is supported by a highly experienced team whose senior members have worked together for more than 25 years, first at Suncorp and now at Solaris. Although Story's departure creates a setback in the mining sector and from a succession-planning perspective, the effect has been mitigated by the team's depth and effective redistribution of responsibilities. Story's duties were transferred internally, reflecting the depth of the team and Solaris' collaborative culture. The firm's research model assigns analysts responsibility for stock selection and portfolio management within their sectors, fostering accountability and deep industry expertise. CIO Michael Bell provides overarching portfolio oversight and risk management, ensuring a cohesive, benchmark-aware portfolio. Solaris' flat structure, broad employee ownership, and meaningful personal investment in its strategies create strong alignment with investors and have helped attract and retain talent. The smooth handling of both Sean Martin's 2023 departure and Story's 2026 exit further demonstrates the firm's resilience and leadership. Solaris' investment approach combines disciplined bottom-up stock research with benchmark-aware, style-neutral portfolio construction. The strategy continues to warrant a High Process Pillar rating, underpinned by consistent implementation and a strong relationship between conviction and portfolio weights, with stocks offering superior risk-adjusted return potential receiving larger allocations. A key differentiator is Solaris' robust risk-management framework, which seeks to ensure returns are driven predominantly by stock selection rather than unintended sector, market-cap, or factor exposures. disciplined portfolio design has historically produced a risk profile lower than the benchmark while providing investors with a differentiated source of alpha relative to peers who can rely more heavily on concentrated positions or style-driven bets. Investors are offered two pricing models: a straightforward base-fee option at 0.90% annually and the PA share class, which forgoes a management fee entirely in favor of a 30% performance fee on returns exceeding the ASX 200 benchmark. With cost parity achieved at a gross alpha of 3% and the manager's internal alpha target set between 2% and 3%, the PA option represents compelling value—particularly given Solaris' historically low tracking error. Long-term performance has been above the category index and peers despite a difficult period around the covid pandemic. Solaris Core Australian Equities continues to stand out as a top-tier choice for investors seeking a core allocation to an Australian large-cap manager. The primary vehicle from which this strategy's pillar ratings are derived is Solaris Core Australian Equity, ticker 16567.

Quick Stats

Morningstar Category ™

Based on exposure to asset classes, investment sectors, the investment style and market-cap allocation, and the associated risk and return characteristics of funds. The objective of the classification system is to provide groupings of funds which can be reasonably considered to be close investment alternatives and for which performance and other statistics such as fees are comparable.

Morningstar Medalist Rating ™

Morningstar expresses the Morningstar Medalist Rating™ on a five-tier scale running from Gold to Negative. For both actively and passively managed funds, Morningstar assigns Gold, Silver, and Bronze ratings to vehicles expected to add value over the long term when compared with a relevant Morningstar Category average after accounting for fees and risk. Investment products are evaluated on the fundamental pillars People, Parent, Process and the Medalist Rating Price Score. These Pillars form the spine of Morningstar's research approach, with analysis coalescing around an evaluation of the strategy's management team, the parent firm, the quality and repeatability of the underlying investment process, and the cost of the vehicle at the share class level. The analysis considers the interaction between each pillar which is crucial to understanding a vehicle's overall merit. The pillar ratings take the form of Low (-2), Below Average (-1), Average (0), Above Average (+1), and High (+2). The cost of a product is evaluated using the Medalist Rating Price Score. MPS is a continuous score (as opposed to an integer value) running from negative 2.5 to positive 2.5 based on the percentile rank of a vehicle's expense ratio within its Morningstar Category. For more detailed information about the Medalist Ratings, including their methodology, please go to the section titled "Methodology Documents and Disclosures" at http://global.morningstar.com/managerdisclosures .

Morningstar Disclosure Datapoint

Issuer Initiated Rating: In Australia and New Zealand only, starting from June 2026, Morningstar may receive a fee from product issuers for preparing a Morningstar Medalist Rating on their financial product(s) domiciled in Australia or New Zealand (an "Issuer Initiated Rating"). An Issuer Initiated Rating will apply to a strategy and its associated share classes. Morningstar will clearly identify each Issuer Initiated Rating on the front page of the report and will provide disclosure relating to the party that has paid the associated fee. Fees for an Issuer Initiated Rating are not linked to the rating outcome, and the paying entity has no influence over the analytical process or rating outcome.

Tracks Morningstar Index: Certain managed investments use indexes created by and licensed from Morningstar, Inc., and its subsidiaries as their tracking index. We mitigate any actual or potential conflicts of interest arising from these activities by maintaining and enforcing information barriers, including both technological and non-technological controls, and conducting ongoing monitoring through Morningstar's Compliance department. Morningstar will clearly identify manager research related to such indexes on the front page of the report. Morningstar does not provide qualitative ratings or opinions for investments managed by Morningstar or managed investments that track Morningstar indexes that incorporate discretionary inputs assigned by Morningstar employees on an ongoing basis, such as Morningstar Economic Moat Ratings, or ESG Ratings

Morningstar Rating ™

The rating is calculated for funds with at least a three-year history based on a Morningstar Risk-Adjusted Return measure that accounts for variation in a fund's monthly performance. The top 10% of funds in each peer group receive 5 stars, the next 22.5% receive 4 stars, the next 35% receive 3 stars, the next 22.5% receive 2 stars and the bottom 10% receive 1 star. The peer group is determined by the fund's Morningstar Category and Legal Type. The Overall Morningstar Rating for a fund is derived from a weighted average of the performance figures associated with its three-, five- and ten-year Morningstar Rating metrics.

Morningstar Take

The Morningstar Take is a summary of Morningstar's overall opinion of the fund manager's strategy and capabilities in the asset class. If Morningstar has not qualitatively reviewed the manager, the PDS Objective and Fund Investment Strategy will appear in its place.

Performance

The performance data given represents past performance and should not be considered indicative of future results. Principal value and investment return will fluctuate, so that an investor's shares when redeemed may be worth more or less than the original investment.

Growth of $10,000: The graph compares the growth of $10,000 in a fund with that of a capital market index chosen by Morningstar and with that of the average growth for all funds in its Morningstar peer group. The index is an unmanaged portfolio of specified securities. The index and the category average do not reflect any initial expenses however the category average returns are net of ongoing fees. A fund's portfolio may differ significantly from the securities in the index.

Quartile Rank: The graph represents the fund's total return percentile rank among funds in the same peer group. The black bar on the graph represents the quartile in which the fund-performance ranking falls. If the top quarter of the graph is shaded, for example, the fund performed among the top 25% of its category that year.

Total return reflects performance without adjusting for sales charges but is adjusted to reflect all actual ongoing fund expenses and assumes reinvestment of distributions. Growth return is the percentage change in the scheme's soft close exit price adjusted for any capital re-organisation. Income return is the total return less growth return and reflects the level of distributions from a fund. For Australian funds, performance is not adjusted for taxation. For New Zealand PIE funds, tax credits are added back to the performance. For New Zealand non-PIE funds returns are calculated net of tax. Trailing returns for periods over one year are annualised.

Risk Measures

Standard deviation: Statistical measure of the volatility of the fund's return.

Sharpe ratio: A risk-adjusted measure calculated by using standard deviation and excess return to determine reward per unit of risk. The higher the Sharpe Ratio, the better the fund's historical risk-adjusted performance.

Alpha: A measure of the difference between a portfolio's actual returns and its expected performance, given its level of risk as measured by beta. A positive Alpha figure indicates the portfolio has performed better than its beta would predict.

Beta: A measure of a fund's sensitive to market movements. If beta is greater than one, movements in value of the fund that are associated with movements in the value of the benchmark tend to be amplified.

R-Squared: : Measures the relationship between a portfolio and its benchmark. It can be thought of as a percentage from 1 to 100. R-squared can be used to ascertain the significance of a particular beta or alpha. Generally, a higher R-squared will indicate a more useful beta figure.

Fees

Total Cost Ratio (Prospective): Represents the forward-looking figure encompassing the total non-discretionary fees and costs associated with managing and administering collective investment products.

Buy-Spread/Sell-Spread: A transaction cost incurred by the investor that reflects an estimated transaction costs incurred by the fund in dealing with the underlying securities as shown in the PDS.

Performance Fee Costs: Performance Fee shown in the "Fees and Costs Summary" table in the PDS. It is intended as a representation of potential on-going performance fee expenses and is a calculated average using the performance fee costs from the last five financial years (or as many as the performance fee was applicable). This amount includes the Performance Fee costs arising from Interposed Vehicles.

Investment Management Fee: The Management Fee (MIS) and Investment Fees (Super) shown in the PDS, that is attributable to investment management, which are fees and costs an investor would expect to be charged over the year. This excludes the costs arising from interposed vehicles.

Administration Fees and Costs (Super Funds only): shown in the "Fees and Costs Summary" table in the PDS. This includes OTC Derivative Costs deemed to be Administration costs.

Portfolio

Composition: The graph represents a breakdown of the fund's holdings into general investment classes based on surveyed data provided by the fund manager.

Morningstar Style Box: For equity funds the vertical axis shows the market capitalization of the stocks owned and the horizontal axis shows investment style (value, blend or growth). For fixed-income funds the vertical axis shows the average credit quality of the bonds owned, and the horizontal axis shows interest rate sensitive as measured by a bond's duration (short, intermediate or long).

Top Holdings: The largest exposure of eligible securities within a fund's portfolio. Portfolio holdings information is based on the most recent information available to Morningstar, and eligible securities are defined by Morningstar's Global Methodology team, and will exclude positions not considered core to the portfolio.

Top 5 Sector Weightings: The Morningstar sector structure divides the stock universe into 129 industries ranging from semiconductors to medical equipment. These industries are classified into 41 industry groups, which are then used to construct 12 separate sectors.

Top 5 Countries: The largest geographical exposure of a fund's stock assets. Country assignments are based on the primary exchange where each stock is traded.
